

Poverty and Social Exclusion

We promote the social inclusion of the most disadvantaged sectors, in order to provide them with a better future

José Miguel's history

José Miguel. 10 years old. Barcelona

"What I like most about my life is that I'm lucky enough to be able to go to school."

My name is José Miguel Martín and I'm ten years old. My favourite colours are green and white. I'm the youngest of three brothers, it's not fair... because they always tell me what to do and I have to do it because I'm the little one. I like Maths a lot because when I was small I began to add up and take away and now I like it a lot. I've been playing for 3 years for Gavà with kids bigger than me. My coach tells me: "Very good, Jose, very good". I don't like scoring goals much, no, I prefer giving passes. I'm not selfish. What I like most about my life... is that... I'm lucky enough to go to school... and I'm not short of money. And I'm not hungry. For me and my family, I'd like to be rich. With the money, I'd buy a house, with land and a swimming-pool. With a very long slide and a trampoline, I want to be a footballer and play for Betis. For Betis "even when it loses".